Plan Ahead for Future STRS/PERS Contribution Rate Increases Today

Community College League of California, in partnership with PARS (Public Agency Retirement Services), offers The Pension Rate Stabilization Program (PRSP) — an innovative IRC Section 115 irrevocable trust designed to prefund pension costs and help districts get ahead of rising STRS/PERS rate increases.

- Mitigate long-term contribution rate volatility
- Access funds at any time to address pension costs
- Address Net Pension Liabilities (GASB 68)
- Diversify investments for potentially greater return
- Program protected by exclusive, first-of-its-kind Private Letter Ruling from the IRS

PARS also specializes in custom solutions such as early retirement incentives, an alternative to Social Security and other innovative programs.

For more information or a complimentary proposal contact PARS at (800) 540-6369 ext. 127 or info@pars.org

DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARD

The prestigious California Community College Distinguished Alumni Award will be presented on Friday, November 22nd, at the General Session Luncheon. Award recipients are California Community College alumni who are accomplished professionals and contributing citizens of their communities. Hear from this year's Distinguished Alumna as she shares her story and reminds us of the importance of our collective efforts.

NORA MENDEZ Executive Director, Orange County Community Housing Corporation Santa Ana College

Highly recognized for her community contributions, Nora Mendez is a recipient of the California State Assembly Woman of Distinction, an Orange County Woman of the Year, and a California State Senate Honoree. Over the course of her 20-year career, nonprofit executive Nora Mendez has amassed an impressive list of awards and honors for her dedication to provide extremely low-income families with affordable housing and access to educational opportunities so they can soar to unimagined heights. Raised on a small farm in Jalisco, Mexico, Nora's parents struggled to provide for their large family. After the death of Nora's father and sister due to lack of finances for healthcare, the family of nine found it increasingly difficult to make ends meet. Seeking a better life, Nora's mother left Mexico for Santa Ana, finding work as a live-in housekeeper. Nora and her eight siblings stayed behind at first. It took years, but eventually, Nora's mother brought all nine children to the United States. The large family settled into a one-bedroom apartment in the Mexican-immigrant neighborhood, bordering on Santa Ana and Garden Grove. Fraught with crime, gangs, and poverty, it was better living, but it was far from easy. Little did Nora know, the blighted community would change the course of her life, and the community-at-large, forever. In 1994, Nora headed to Santa Ana College and graduated with an AA degree in 1999. While at Cal State Fullerton, Nora began interning with the Orange County Community Housing Corporation, the organization that put her family on the path to self-sufficiency. Now 20 years later, she's still there to this day, paying it forward. As Executive Director of OCCHC, Nora is known as a selfless shepherd of community service and education. When she's not supporting the self-sufficiency goals of Orange County's most vulnerable families, Nora serves on numerous boards, including The Kennedy Commission, NeighborWorks OC, Community Housing Resources, Inc., and Thomas Housing Temporary Shelter. Nora also generously lends her time to various charitable causes.

ELOY ORTIZ OAKLEY

Chancellor, California Community Colleges

Chancellor Eloy Ortiz Oakley embodies the impact the California Community Colleges are having in transforming lives. He grew up in the Florence-Firestone area of South Los Angeles in the mid-1970s and early 1980s, the son of a U.S. citizen father who was schooled in Mexico and a mother who was a Mexican immigrant. After serving four years in the Army, he enrolled at Golden West College and transferred to the University of California, Irvine, where he earned his bachelor's degree in environmental analysis and design and a master's degree in business administration.

His career in education includes serving as an adjunct faculty member teaching in and coordinating the Environmental Technology Certificate Program at Golden West College, manager of risk services at the Coast Community College District, vice president of college services at Oxnard College, and assistant superintendent/executive vice president of administrative services at the Long Beach Community College District.

Oakley in 2007 was appointed superintendent-president of the Long Beach Community College District, one of the most diverse community colleges in the nation, and he became increasingly well-known for providing statewide and national leadership on improving educational outcomes of historically underrepresented students. Partnering with the Long Beach Unified School District and Cal State Long Beach, Oakley helped form the nationally recognized Long Beach College Promise, a program creating clear, structured pathways for students to move from high school to Long Beach Community College and onto Cal State Long Beach. The James Irvine Foundation recognized him with its Leadership Award in 2014, the same year former Gov. Edmund G. “Jerry” Brown Jr. appointed Oakley to the University of California Board of Regents. In 2015, President Obama launched the America’s College Promise initiative that was modeled in part on the Long Beach Promise.

Oakley has served as chancellor for the California Community Colleges since December 2016. He is an ardent advocate of the Vision for Success, a clear-eyed, honest look at where the California Community Colleges is succeeding and where it is falling short. This document, the North Star of the California Community Colleges, establishes a vision for improvement with clear goals and a set of commitments needed to ensure student outcomes significantly improve.

Oakley’s trailblazing efforts at putting students first have been acknowledged through his appointments to the California Forward Leadership Council, the California Economic Summit, the Fair Shake Commission, the California Community College Commission on the Future and the American Association of Community Colleges 21st Century Commission on the Future of Community Colleges.

When he was growing up in South Central Los Angeles during a time of rising crime and dwindling job opportunities, Oakley recalls that the expectations of going to college for children from a Mexican-American family like his were somewhere between slim and none. Oakley found his opportunity at Golden West College in Huntington Beach, setting him on a path to where he is today. And he is devoted to preserving this path for others.

MORNING GENERAL SESSION

Using the Iloh Model of College-Going Decisions and Trajectories for Institutional Equity and Effectiveness

DR. CONSTANCE ILOH

Assistant Professor, University of California, Irvine

Dr. Constance Iloh is an award-winning education scholar, speaker, consultant, and researcher. Described as a “higher education powerhouse” by Diverse: Issues in Higher Education, Professor Iloh’s program of research explores educational opportunity and inequities; college access and choice; institutional culture; social context; and student experiences. Dr. Iloh, who currently serves as an assistant professor at the University of California-Irvine, is especially known for her work that investigates the college-going narratives and realities of underserved students in higher education as well as work that examines for-profit colleges and community colleges.

One of Professor Iloh’s most recent scholarly contributions is the Iloh Model of College-going Decisions and Trajectories, an innovative three-component ecological model that serves as an alternative to existing college choice frameworks. This model illuminates contemporary college decisions and educational narratives while also problematizing the notion of college choice. Her research and conceptual work have appeared in top education journals such as the American Educational Research Journal, Journal of Negro Education, Harvard Educational Review, and Teachers College Record.

Dr. Iloh’s work has been cited in Forbes, Inside Higher Ed, The Chronicle of Higher Education, the Harvard Law Review, Politico, and National Public Radio- who profiled her as a national expert in naming her their source of the week. Iloh is a 2018-2019 recipient of the prestigious UC Hellman Fellowship, a highly competitive research grant bestowed upon professors showing great distinction in their field. Professor Iloh has been invited to share her work with the White House Initiative on Educational Excellence for African Americans, the Institute for Higher Education, Telemundo, NBC Universal, and Michelle Obama's Reach Higher Campaign. She made history as the first Black professor in the School of Education at UC Irvine. In 2016, Dr. Iloh became one of the few academics ever named to the change-agents and break-out stars of the Forbes "30 under 30" list. You can learn more about Dr. Constance Iloh and her work at www.constanceiloh.com.

LUNCHEON AND GENERAL SESSION

The Future of Leadership in an Exponential World

LEITH SHARP

Director and Lead Faculty, Executive Education for Sustainability Leadership, Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health

A dynamic change leader with 25 years of practice, research, and teaching, Sharp has taught leadership for sustainability at Harvard University for 18 years, earning numerous commendations for distinguished teaching performance.

Sharp founded the Executive Education for Sustainability Leadership program at Harvard in 2013, which she continues to lead. This cross-sectoral, residential leadership program brings sustainability leadership, human well-being, purpose, biomimicry, agility, integrated business models, and organizational design together.

In 2017, Sharp co-founded Leaders on Purpose to engage global CEOs in scaling a new leadership paradigm and business logic with the fitness to deliver on the UN Sustainable Development Goals. Global CEOs from Paypal, Siemens, Mastercard, Ikea, P&G, Sodexo, Danone, Mars, Best Buy, Phillips, SAP, BMW, L'Oreal, and many more have contributed.

Sharp is well known for founding Harvard's Office for Sustainability, where over a period of 9 years, she led Harvard to become a global leader in campus sustainability. In 2010, Sharp became the founding executive director for the Illinois Green Economy Network, working with the state's 40 college presidents to raise $24 million for green workforce development.

She has consulted with over 200 organizations and has received numerous awards internationally, including Young Australian of the Year, NSW Environment Category, and a Churchill Fellowship. Sharp has an environmental engineering degree (UNSW), a master of education (Harvard), and is currently completing a Master of Science in Biomimicry (ASU).

CLOSING GENERAL SESSION

A Real Conversation on Homelessness in Higher Education

PAM LUSTER

President, San Diego Mesa College (Moderator)

Dr. Pamela Luster is the President of San Diego Mesa College; she is in her 9th year. Previously she served as the Vice President of Student Services, Interim Vice President of Instruction, and Dean of Academic Services at Las Positas College. At West Valley College, she held the position of Dean of Career Education and Workforce Development and started her career as a faculty member in the Disabled Students program.

Dr. Luster's service includes membership on several local, state, and national boards to include: San Diego Youth Services (SDYS), San Diego Mesa College Foundation, California Community College Athletics Association, and on the American Association of Community Colleges Commission for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion. She currently still serves on the CEOCCC Board representing Region XI and is co-chairing the CEOCCC Task Force on Affordability, Food, and Housing. This year she is the Chair of the San Diego and Imperial Counties Community College Association. Dr. Luster is an adjunct faculty member at San Diego State University, Doctoral Program in Community College Leadership.

Dr. Luster's scholarly and professional pursuits are focused on student equity, diversity, and inclusion and building campus and community coalitions towards cultural proficiency and humility. She is committed to finding permanent solutions to address the basic needs of community college students.

RASHIDA CRUTCHFIELD
Associate Professor, California State University, Long Beach

Dr. Rashida Crutchfield is an assistant professor in the School of Social Work at California State University, Long Beach. She earned a Master of Social Work at the Brown School of Social Work at Washington University in St. Louis and her Doctorate in Educational Leadership from CSULB. She worked for the National Conference for Community and Justice in Long Beach and the American Civil Liberties Union of Eastern Missouri before serving on the Covenant House California staff. Experience at this Los Angeles shelter for 18-to-24-year-olds experiencing homelessness gave her insight into practice, building rapport, and intervention with this population's strengths, needs, and perspectives.

Dr. Crutchfield has been a faculty member in the CSULB School of Social Work since 2007 as field faculty and lecturer. She began as an assistant professor in 2014 with a focus on practice and research in youth homelessness, access to higher education, social and economic development, and social work community practice. She was the Principal Investigator for Phase I of the CSU Chancellor's study on food and housing security, and Co-Principal Investigator for phases II and III. These studies are the largest of their kind.

AMY COSTA
Member, California Community Colleges
Board of Governors

Amy Costa was chief deputy director for budget at the California Department of Finance from 2016 to 2018, where she served as an advisor to the director on higher education from 2014 to 2016. She was an account lead at Blue Beyond Consulting from 2012 to 2014 and director of state and local government relations at Safeway Inc. from 2010 to 2012. Costa served as associate director of advocacy and state relations at the California State University Chancellor's Office from 2009 to 2010. She served as policy director in the Office of California State Senator Dean Florez from 2008 to 2009, as a policy consultant in the Office of California State Senate

President pro Tempore Don Perata from 2005 to 2008 and district director in the Office of California State Senator Don Perata from 2001 to 2005.

RUBEN CANEDO

Director, Strategic Equity Initiatives at University of California, Berkeley

Ruben Canedo was born and raised in the border valleys of Mexicali, Imperial, and Coachella. He is a recipient of UC Regents and Chancellor's Full Scholarship and first-generation alumnus of UC Berkeley. His academic coursework and publications focus on public higher education, equity, intersectionality, and systems change.

Canedo serves as Director of Equity Initiatives within UC Berkeley's Division of Equity & Inclusion. His responsibilities include college student basic needs, strategic planning, and mobilization. Canedo was appointed to the dual roles of Chair of the UC Berkeley Basic Needs Committee (2013) and Co-Chair of the UC Systemwide Basic Needs Committee (2014). These efforts focus on research, prevention, sustainability, and advocacy. His efforts have published studies on college student food insecurity and homelessness in higher education and have helped inform both state and federal policies. Additionally, Canedo facilitates keynotes and training on healing, life journeys, and maximizing performance.

DAISY BELTRAN

Student, Imperial Valley College

Daisy Gallegos Beltran is a 26-year-old homeless student who began her journey with Imperial Valley College at 21. She had little to no family support and struggled to find a safe and secure place to live. After receiving support from internal and external sources, she has continued her longtime dream and personal goals of obtaining an education. Beltran will soon graduate with an Associate Degree in Communication Studies for Transfer and has been accepted into Columbia College, where she will further her education and pursue a Bachelor Degree in Communication.

What Happens When Colleges Broaden Access to Transfer-Level Courses? Evidence from California's Community Colleges [G, SS]

This session will focus on the main findings from a recent PPIC report that sheds light on the changes that we might expect to see as a result of AB 705. Drawing from a group of colleges that significantly broadened access to gateway transfer-level English and math courses in the years leading up to full AB 705 implementation, this report investigates how these changes in access have translated to increases in the share of students successfully completing those courses (overall and across racial/ethnic groups). This session will also provide evidence on the degree to which colleges have implemented co-requisite courses and the gains in student outcomes associated with these courses.

LUNCHEON AND GENERAL SESSION [G, SS]

Keynote Speaker

LEITH SHARP

Director and Lead Faculty, Executive Education for Sustainability Leadership, Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health

The Future of Leadership in an Exponential World

A rapidly evolving 21st century context brings focus to our shared reality that no organization and no sector can succeed in a failing world. A new leadership paradigm is rapidly emerging in response, positioning sustainability as the ultimate innovation and performance driver for an ever-connected and fast-paced world. In this keynote, Leith Sharp will share key insights into this emerging leadership paradigm by drawing from two bodies of work: The 2018-19 CEO Study, a study of 30 CEOs of highly successful global corporations, conducted by Leaders on Purpose, into the future of leadership, business and organizational design. Key insights into the future of leadership derived by mapping the journey of over 2000 purpose-driven ideas, from inception to scale, within higher education, business, government, and NGOs.

Nora Mendez

Executive Director, Orange County Community Housing Corporation
Santa Ana College

The prestigious California Community College Distinguished Alumni Award is presented to a California community college graduate who is an accomplished professional and citizen in their community. Recipients of the award inspire us all as they share their stories and remind us of the importance of our efforts to provide a quality community college education and experience. Over the course of her 20-year career, nonprofit executive Nora Mendez has amassed an impressive list of awards and honors for her dedication to provide low-income families with affordable housing and access to educational opportunities so they can soar to unimagined heights.

Presented by the Community College League of California

BERNARD OSHER PHILANTHROPIST OF THE YEAR 2019

Miriam Emily Schwab
(1928 - 2017)

Miriam Emily Schwab was a beloved local philanthropist and a long-time Ventura College supporter. She was a music lover who played the violin with the Ventura College Symphony Orchestra for over fifteen years. Miriam's generous $12 million estate gift in 2018 to the Ventura College Music Department helped establish the inaugural Miriam and Henry Schwab Academy of Music during the summer of 2019. A devoted swimmer, Miriam would often be seen swimming in the Ventura College pool. To encourage future swimmers, Miriam also gifted a portion of her legacy for the Ventura College Aquatic Programs.

Leading with Civility [G, SS]

Have you ever experienced a board so divided that they are unable to effectively communicate or believe that the other trustees are lying in board meetings? Or had an extremist public speaker appear before your board and be encouraged by some of the trustees? Difficult issues cannot be resolved if there is no trust or respect, and if all communication is not civil. Effective boards listen and communicate in a civil manner focused on a common goal; typically, student success. This session will help participants understand the rules of civil engagement and practice a better method of dealing with explosive issues.

Giving Students More Than A Seat At The Table [SS]

As educational leaders, we know the student voice matters a lot. Students have valid opinions, knowledge, and experiences that districts and boards can benefit from. More than ever, understanding the student perspective is key to the effective implementation of college-level reforms. Students are already engaged at districts in many ways, from planning committees to goal setting. But how can districts create cultural change which leads to collaborative and lasting student engagement? This session will highlight strategies and ideas to improve the culture of student engagement at districts and colleges.

Presenters: Lizette Navarette, Vice President, Community College League of California; Alexis Zaragoza, Student Member, California Community Colleges Board of Governors

A Real Conversation on Homelessness in Higher Education

Let's have a real conversation about Homelessness in Higher Education. According to the California Community College #RealCollege Survey Report that was released by the Hope Center for College, Community, and Justice at Temple University and the California Community College Chancellor's Office in March 2019, 19% of the California Community College students are homeless. Are you ready for a real and critical discussion on the state of homelessness among community college students and potential strategies for addressing their needs? Homelessness is an important area of concern for all California Community College constituent groups.

A photograph of the Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco, California, taken from a low angle on a rocky shore. The bridge's iconic orange-red structure is silhouetted against a warm, golden sunset sky. The water is a deep blue-grey, with white foam from waves crashing against the rocks in the foreground. A heavy metal chain runs across the lower part of the frame, anchored to a wooden post. The overall mood is nostalgic and serene.
